2 Lectures at Tregear Presbyterian

Mike Goheen is a Senior Lecturer at Regent College, and Trinity Western University, Vancouver. He has authored many books and is a much sought after speaker in Canada and the US. Mike will be delivering 2 interactive lectures on Covenant at Tregear Presbyterian Church, beginning Sunday week. The lectures will be held on two consecutive Sundays, at 11:45am-1, on the 4th and 11th of July. Tregear Presy warmly invites you and your congregations to join us for these lectures.

Location: Tregear Presbyterian Church, Ellsworth dr Tregear.

These lectures will be free. Attendees are invited to donate toward the ministry of Bernie Sarpong, who is leaving for Southern Sudan next week. Bernie will be working with Medair, and evangelical aid agency.

Interactive Lecture One: Covenant is the central way that the Bible describes our relationship with God. What is the cultural background for this important image? Why is it so important for today?

Interactive Lecture Two: Individualism in Western culture has eroded the biblical notion of the covenant relationship of God with a people. This negatively impacts the way we view our children. What does it mean for children to be part of the covenant? Why is infant baptism important? Why is this issue important for the church today? I hope that you or your church members can join us for this exciting occasion. If members of your congregation will join us, please email me rough (very rough) numbers between now and then.

The primary mission of the church in the world is to be the new creation.
David Bosch
